A letter from the President

Daniel Facussé

President of the Board of Directors of the Honduran Manufacturers Association

The AHM Affiliate Directory 2026 is more than a business contact guide. It is a reflection of the strength, evolution, and strategic potential of Honduras' manufacturing and services industry, and a platform that connects our affiliated companies with new opportunities for growth, partnerships, and investment.

Honduras stands at a defining moment. As global supply chains continue to evolve, companies are increasingly looking for production destinations that offer efficiency, reliability, and strategic proximity to key markets. In this context, our country has a unique opportunity to strengthen its position as a competitive, agile, and trusted partner for international business.

At the Honduran Manufacturers Association, we understand that this moment requires vision, coordination, and purposeful action. For this reason, we are advancing a renewed strategy aimed at promoting Honduras as an attractive investment destination, supported by a stronger sector narrative, a clearer value proposition, and a long-term commitment to positioning the country as a globally competitive hub for manufacturing and other industries.

Through the development of our sector brand strategy, we are working to showcase the attributes that set Honduras apart: its strategic location, industrial experience, skilled workforce, operational efficiency, export capacity, and proven resilience. This effort goes beyond visibility. It is about building confidence, strengthening the sector's image, and creating the conditions to attract new investment that generates employment and sustainable growth for the country.

At this new stage, we also see an important opportunity to work hand in hand with the new government as a strategic partner in all initiatives that promote competitiveness, legal certainty, trade facilitation, workforce development, infrastructure improvement, and investment attraction. We firmly believe that when the public and private sectors move forward together, Honduras can accelerate its development and strengthen its position in the regional and international economy.

Our vision is clear: to continue building a stronger, more diversified, more innovative, and more sustainable industrial sector that will contribute decisively to the economic future of Honduras.

We move forward with determination and confidence, convinced that this is the time to strengthen Honduras' industrial leadership and attract new investment opportunities for our country.

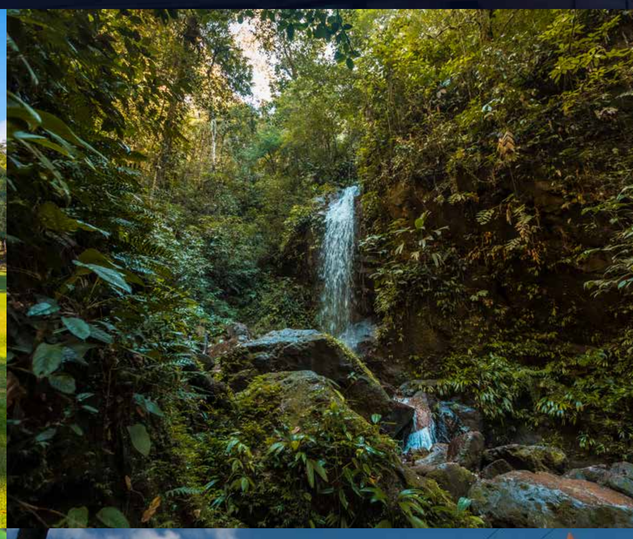

Sincerely,

Daniel Facussé
President
Honduran Manufacturers Association

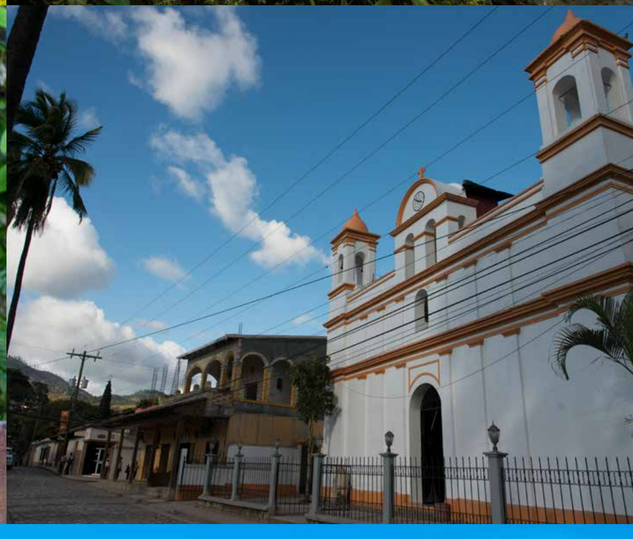

Welcome to Honduras

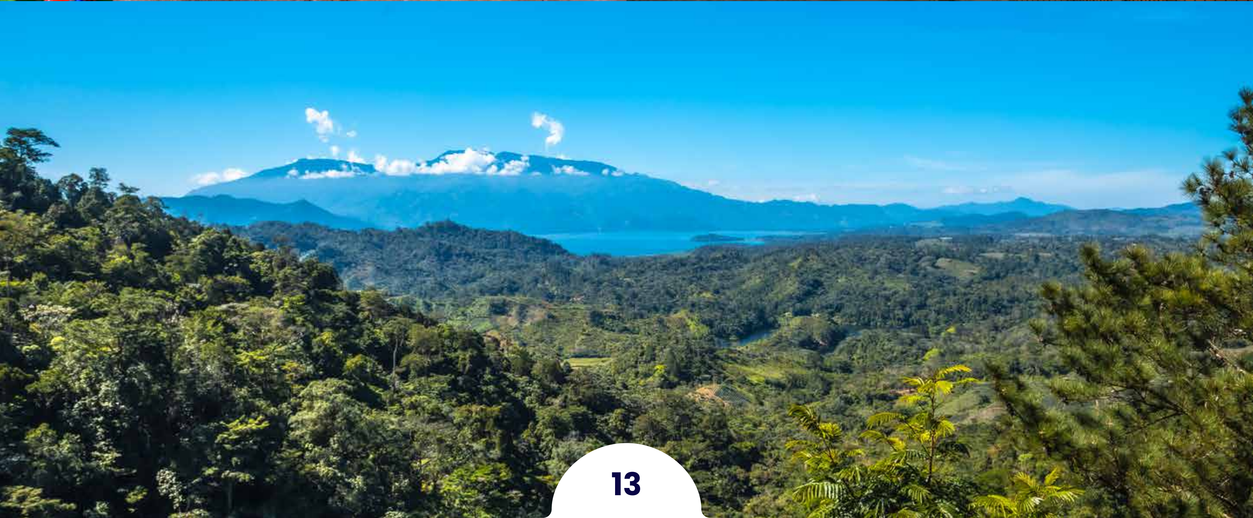

Honduras a land full of investment opportunities

A stable legal framework that guarantees the principle of free enterprise, incentives for production and trade treaties that makes Honduras globally competitive.

An energy generating infrastructure that ensures productivity.

A skilled and trainable workforce.

Competitive wage policies.

Competitive costs in relation to productivity.

Close proximity to the main markets in the U.S.

Tax incentives for investors

100% exemption on:
- Income taxes
- Net assets and solidarity tax
- Sales tax

100% exemption on municipal taxes

Exemption from taxes on petroleum based fuels that are used for production

Foreign currency is owned by the exporter.

Access to different markets on preferential terms (trade agreements)

- For commercial companies up to 50% of its production

Puerto Cortes the largest and most secure port in Central America

Puerto Cortés, the most important port in Central America and the main port of movement of containers across the Atlantic, has new docks, managing to serve up to seven ships simultaneously. A new dock was also built with two Super Post Panamax cranes, and the port was equipped with new generation machinery

First port in Latin America to be included in two port security programs by the United States government and to have the U.S. Customs office in situ.

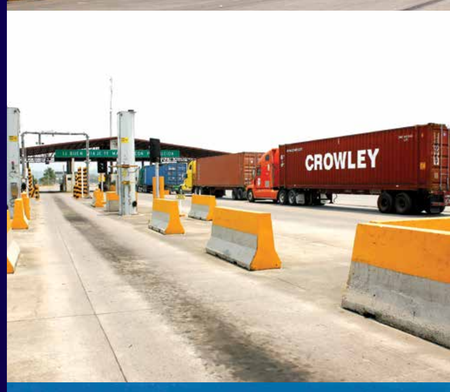

Operates under the Container Security Initiative developed and managed by the U.S. Customs, unique in Central America. This program prescreen and evaluates containers before they are shipped. Containers are screened as early in the supply chain as possible, generally at the port of departure.

Shipments arrive to major U.S. ports in 2 to 3 days.

Puerto Cortes is only an hour drive away from the industrial zones in the northern region of Honduras.

Industrial Parks

The favorable conditions and incentives offered by the country, an encouraging environment that has made it possible to have investments of three million dollars in industrial parks, as well as other investments totaling three thousand one hundred dollars in machinery, equipment and work capital.

The favorable milieu has also allowed growth of tobacco and furniture manufacturing activities in the last few years, as well as agroindustry, auto and electronic parts assembly, and the innovation of outsourcing services through call centers.

Along with the existing facilities, the country has developed an industrial infrastructure of one million square meters distributed in more than twenty industrial parks, built to meet the current demands from companies with a business social responsibility approach.

As part of their multiple services, these parks encompass customs offices, bank offices, cafeterias, health clinics, and retail stores in some cases. The infrastructure of industrial buildings is designed to host any type of manufacturing or service activity, including call centers, and other electronic services.

Facilities that provide working conditions that exceed our clients highest standards

1. Air conditioned facilities.
2. Renewable energy.
3. Lighting that meet or exceed international standards.
4. Optimal sanitary and hygienic conditions.
5. Environmentally responsible (water treatment plants, maintenance of green areas, solid waste management services).
6. Services readily available such as: Banks, Medical clinics, cafes, telecommunications, electricity, water supply, recruitment and consultancy.
7. Corporate Medical System Program. (In partnership with the Honduran Institute of Social Security)
8. Every industrial park is equipped with a customs office to facilitate the import and export operations of its clients.
